

FEW RETURNED TO WORK THOUGH STRIKE IS OVER.

THE TROUBLE MAY BREAK OUT
AGAIN AT BOSTON.

NORFOLK SITUATION UNCHANGE

Disorder There Continues and Militia
Has Trouble Enough—The Day's Strike News.

Boston, Mass., March 14.—While the great strike is settled, but few men as yet have gone back to work. The railways and wharf companies will not displace any men who worked through the strike, but the old men will be taken
on as fast as possible.

Streets leading to the various railroad freight houses and steamship warehouses are crowded with vehicles
this afternoon and everything is hurry
and bustle in the attempt to clean up
the freight which has accumulated
during the last four days. At the teamsters' union headquarters it was said
at noon today that the men were being instructed to make application for their former places and to the constant stream of freight handlers who came reporting failure, assurance was given that if matters did not adjust themselves to the satisfaction of all the various labor bodies they would again call out the men.

Boston, March 14.—After working about a half hour, the strikers who went back to work at the Philadelphia dock today threw down their tools and refused to work longer with non-union men.

Boston, March 14.—Through the united efforts of representatives of the great mercantile bodies of the city,
seconded by the chief executives of the city and state in conference with the recognized leaders of organized labor, the great strike of freight handlers and kindred trades reported in
the Allied Freight Transportation
council was broken last night.

The result was attained at a conference at the office of Governor Crane.
The decision was at once reported to
the Allied Freight Transportation
council at a special meeting and unanimously endorsed.

The settlement was the result of an expressed determination of Governor
Crane and those representing the merchants of Boston to bring all possible
pressure to bear upon the New York
New Haven & Hartford railroad company to adopt the rules in force upon the Boston & Maine railroad forbidding freight handlers to unload teams
except at their own option and risk.
All of the old men for whom places
can be found will be taken back by the railroads today, but owing to the suddenness with which the strike was ended and the large number of new men who have been installed it is likely that many of the old employees will find no vacancies ready for them.
Eventually, it is believed, they will regain their old positions.

Teamsters and longshoremen will find an unprecedented demand for their services and traffic of all descriptions which has been virtually at a standstill for the past three or four days is beginning with a rush.

The Brine Transportation company,
the loading and unloading of whose non-union teams precipitated the strike of the New York New Haven & Hartford freight handlers, does not appear to have figured in the settlement of the present controversy and
as far as that company is concerned
the sentiment against it on the part of the labor unions is as bitter as ever. Under the new management
however, union men will not be required to load or unload that company's teams.

THE NORFOLK SITUATION.

Norfolk, Va., March 14.—Strike conditions are in no way changed today.
Disorder continues and the militia
who receive but little aid from the police, find it impossible to stop the throwing of iron, bricks and other missiles into the cars run by non-union men. One woman passenger who was struck last night is now in the hospital in a serious condition. The inclined tracks are grooved so the car
wheels will not turn and obstructions

GIRL KILLED During the Night and Body Discovered This Morning—Police Hunting for Ganfoite.

New York, March 14.—The police are today looking for Eugene Ganfoite, 24
years old, who, they believe murdered
Maud Gentile, sometime last night in a room in the Transfer hotel, 157 East 42nd street. The girl was found dead
this morning with an ugly stab wound
over the heart.

INJUNCTION Restrains Pretty Cashier's Parents and Brothers From Harassing Her. An Odd Chicago Case.

Chicago, March 14.—A remarkable injunction telling the story of a girl's pitiful struggle to support her parents
and brothers and of their alleged efforts to bring her into disgrace has been issued on the petition of Clara
Patterson, a pretty cashier in a restaurant. The injunction restrains her father, mother and two grown brothers,
from interfering with, or harassing her or from doing anything that will bring her into disgrace. She alleges in her petition that her father
and brothers have been guilty of repeated acts of cruelty and that they used abusive and improper language
in her presence and that her mother
has forced her to give up all her earnings for the support of the family, including the brothers.

IN A SACK TRAVELING AS "SOME POTATOES" HE REACHED CHICAGO.

Stood on His Head an Hour—Novel
Wager Won by a Western Machinist.

Chicago, March 14.—Billed as a choice sack of potatoes a young man
arrived in Chicago from Kansas City tied up in a sack. For three days and a half he had been confined in the sack, and during that time he had traveled close to 700 miles in a freight car. The sack which covered him was enclosed in an open fruit crate.

The traveler, who is Martin J.
Klansdigger, a machinist of Kansas City, was nearly famished when he was cut from his prison yesterday afternoon at the Chicago and Northwestern freight house by a friend who had been waiting for a day and a half
in the city for him to arrive.

When released Klansdigger was nearly blinded by the dust which had crept into the sack, and his throat and mouth were so parched that he could hardly speak, his little cask of water
having been spilled after he had been
on his journey only a day.

The trip he made was the result of a wager with a buffet keeper of Kansas City. The amount of the wager was $300. The conditions were that he should arrive in Chicago in less than four days, that he should be allowed to carry only a quart of water
and two pounds of crackers with him.

It was not until after his friend who came to Chicago to receive him, Chas.
Manning, had presented an order and received the "potatoes" that the workmen in the freight house knew what was in the package.

Manning, with the aid of an express-
man, carried the crate with his freight
out on the sidewalk, and when Manning's voice was heard by Klansdigger,
the man in the bag shouted faintly:
"For heaven's sake cut that sack quick and let me out. I'm dying of thirst."

Manning lost no time, and tearing away the slight bars of the crate he slashed open the sack and released the woe-begone man within.

"The first thing they did to me
when I was received at Kansas City
as a bag of potatoes was to stand me
on my head. I had to remain," said Klansdigger, "in that position for about an hour before I succeeded in kicking myself down. The next morning I was awakened by somebody opening the car door, and once more I was stood on my head. That is the time I lost my water, the cask which contained it tipping up. Since that time, which was Tuesday morning,
until now, I had been without a drink
and I have not had anything to eat
since last night."

CHILD PROVED HERSELF A HEROINE AT A FIRE.

SAVED A WOMAN AND HER FIVE LITTLE CHILDREN.

MRS. JOSEPH CALLAHAN MAY DIE

Twelve Year Old Annie Nagle Awakened
by Smoke and Dragged Woman to Window.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 14.—Annie
Nagle, the 12-year old daughter of James Nagle of North Braddock, proved a heroine this morning at a
fire which destroyed the double house
occupied by the families of Joseph Callahan and James Dallas, and through which Mrs. Callahan was probably fatally injured. The child was with Mrs. Callahan, whose husband was on the night shift at the Edgar Thomson works. She was awakened by smoke at 2:15 o'clock
and dragged Mrs. Callahan to the window. She ran across lots to tell her father, then came back and saved
Mrs. Dallas and her five children.
Mrs. Callahan jumped from a window and may die.

METHUEN'S RELEASE

A Part of Boer's Policy to Treat Their Prisoners With Generosity—An Example to British.

Amsterdam March 14.—Boers here
state that General Delarey has released Lord Methuen as part of their settled policy to treat their prisoners
with the greatest generosity thereby hoping to stop the slanders that represent them as only banditti. They wish they say, to present a spectacle to the civilized world in contrast to that of the British treatment of Commandant Scheeper and others.

OFF FOR AFRICA.

London March 14.—Field Marshal
Lord Wolseley will sail at once for South Africa. The government says
his trip is unofficial and for his health.
The general belief is that he goes as a peace commissioner and to advise with Lord Kitchener.

SENATOR GORMAN

Says Younger Man Is Wanted and Declines Democratic Chairmanship of Congressional Committee.

Washington, March 14.—Senator-
elect Arthur Pue Gorman of Maryland,
has declined the offer of some of the Democratic leaders in Congress, who want him to become chairman of the Democratic congressional committee,
and says that he has "graduated out
of the committee business," meaning
by this, probably, that he has served
an apprenticeship and prefers to let younger and more active men take charge of the work of conducting a campaign for the election of members of the House of Representatives.

Mr. Gorman will give the Democrats in Congress the benefit of his advice
in managing the campaign for the election of Congressmen next fall, but he will allow some one else to be the figurehead of the campaign committee.
There are a large number of Democrats of both houses of Congress who do not attempt to conceal their belief that Mr. Gorman should be the Democratic candidate for the presidency in 1904, but when the Senator is approached on this subject he smiles his inextinguishable smile and says nothing.

Capture Means Death.

Guthrie, O. T., March 14.—A mob is in pursuit of James Murry, who committed a criminal assault on Minnie Gray, aged 16, at Poteau, I. T. His capture means death, as the sentiment is strong against him. Officers are trying to head off the mob.

After assaulting the girl Murry followed her into the home of her uncle
thinking she would not reveal the crime with him present. She told,
and an attempt to capture him by the uncle proved futile.

Any burglar will tell you that it isn't always a safe job to rob a safe.

MRS. PETER SOFFEL Indicted in Three Cases by the Grand Jury, But May Not Be Tried for a Month.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 14.—Indictments in three cases against Mrs.
Catherine Soffel, wife of ex-warden
Peter K. Soffel growing out of the escape of the Biddle brothers from jail
on January 30, were considered by the

MRS. SOFFEL.

grand jury yesterday and true bills
returned.

Should Mrs. Soffel be convicted upon the three charges the maximum aggregate sentence that could be imposed upon her would be sixteen years to the prison and a fine of $2,500. The charges are for aiding criminals and for felonious assault and battery upon Chas.
Reynolds and James G. McGarry, jail guards. Reynolds was shot by one of the Biddles and McGarry thrown over or jumped over the railing from
the cell tier and seriously hurt, on the night of the escape. It will probably be a month before Mrs. Soffel is brought to trial.

LEGISLATURE

Primary Elections of Both Parties on Same Day According to Bill Passed by Senate.

Columbus, O., March 14.—Senate
bills passed:

For limiting loans by fire insurance companies to fifty per cent. of the value of the land, including improvements, instead of one-half the value of the land less the improvements; providing that consolidation of electric railways may take place where two or more lines can be conveniently operated from same power house; providing that names and addresses of soldiers of the Mexican, civil and Spanish
wars collected by ward and township
assessors shall be certified to state
commissioner; to remove limit of $300
as minimum amount that must be involved in a case in order to carry it to the supreme court; re-establishing mechanic's lien law with unconstitutional
features omitted.

The senate passed a general primary election bill providing that the spring primaries of all parties be held the first Monday in March and fall primaries on the first Thursday in September, each party to be entitled to
two challengers in booths.

The Chamberlain bill providing for the appointment of a non-partisan
board to have control of the Cleveland
parks came up in the senate and action was postponed until next Monday.

House bills passed: Providing that members of state board of agriculture
cannot vote for their successors or the members of the board; to reduce state
printing one-half, saving $125,000 a year.

Too Much Kubelik.

Cleveland, O., March 14.—Paderewski created a sensation at the Greys' Armory Wednesday night—not as a pianist but as a striker. He was giving a recital to a large audience. Half of the programme had been played and
the pianist had worked his spell on his listeners. He had left the stage for one of the intermissions and there was a long delay. Paderewski had discovered the name of Kubelik on the program. Kubelik is to give a recital
Sunday next.

This angered the pianist, who demanded to know whether he or the young violinist was the hero of the occasion. It was explained to him that his name had appeared on preceding programmes. This seemed to satisfy him and he repeated on the stage.

Some people make light of their troubles by burning their bridges behind them.

KING CALLED MERE FIGUREHEAD BY TWO COUNCILLORS

AND CORONATION CELEBRATION WAS OPPOSED.

THE BOERS LIBERATE METHUEN

Revolutionary Forces in Colombia
Lose Heavily in Recent Fighting.
Foreign News of a Day.

London, March 14.—During the discussion before the Battersea Borough Council of the proposal to make an appropriation for public entertainments in commemoration of the coronation of King Edward, two of the councillors who strongly opposed a celebration of the coronation, said the King was merely a figurehead and that it did not matter to the people of Battersea what individual occupied the throne.

The proposal for an appropriation
was passed.

In the Southampton Town Council a motion to appropriate 1000 pounds for the purpose of celebrating the King's coronation was declared to be preposterous and illegal, and to be "forcing
the people to pay for things they did not believe in."

Surprise was expressed that teetotaller councillors should support such a motion, seeing the interest the King
had recently taken in beer making and knowing also that gambling and horse
racing were the curse of the country.

The motion for an appropriation was carried by a large majority.

GENERAL METHUEN.

London, March 14.—The War Secretary, Mr. Brodrick, announced in the House of Commons that he understood that General Methuen, who was captured, severely wounded, by General
Delarey, March 10, had been released
and was expected to arrive at Klerksdorp. The General's condition was favorable. Mr. Brodrick added that the exchange of General Methuen for General Kritzinger had not been contemplated. The trial of the Commandant
had been postponed because consideration of the evidence to be presented
had not been completed.

Timothy M. Healey, Irish Nationalist, amid national cheers, invited the government to show equal magnanimity and release Commandant Kritzinger.

Mr. Brodrick said subsequently that the telegram received did not specifically say that General Methuen had been released but from the fact that he was in the hands of a British medical officer it was presumed that the General had been released.

FEARFUL LOSSES.

Panama, March 14.—According to reports from General Herrera, General
Castro was forced to retire from Agua Dulce on account of the scarcity of drinking water.

The revolutionists had fifteen Colonels and Majors and seventeen officers of lower rank killed during the Agua Dulce engagements. The number of revolutionary soldiers killed is not specified in General Herrera's report. He only says that considering the position of the government troops,
the revolutionary losses were not ac-
high in proportion.

The losses on both sides are estimated at not less than 1200 men, or about 23 per cent. of the number engaged.

PRINCE HENRY'S ELDEST SON.

Berlin, March 14.—Waldemar, the eldest son of Prince Henry of Prussia,
will in a few days go with his tutor
to Dr. Zahnmann's sanitarium at White Stag, near Dresden. One of Dr. Zahn-mann's specialties is nervous disorders, but why Waldemar should be sent to this sanitarium mystifies persons near the court. One such person repeats the gossip that mentally Waldemar develops slowly. He spends much of his time with his father, when the latter is at home, in outdoor sports.

Ohio Day Deferred.

Charleston, S. C., March 14.—Ohio
day which was to have been celebrated today at the Exposition has been deferred. Governor Nash wired the Exposition company that he will name
a later time for his visit when Ohio
day will be observed.

FATAL FIRE Thirteen Year Old Boy Burned to Death and Five Others Badly Hurt at Mt. Vernon, N. Y.

Mt. Vernon, N. Y., March 14.—The village of Pelham near here, was visited by a disastrous and fatal fire early this morning. The main business building of the town, the Lyman block, is in ashes and one person, Rudolph Yocum, 13, years, was burned to death.
Five others are badly injured and half a dozen less seriously hurt; loss $50,- 000.

Pottery Combine.

East Liverpool, O., March 14.—By July 1, according to the prediction
made by a local pottery manufacturer,
all of the 30 odd potteries in this city,
with one exception, will be absorbed
in the new combine known as the American Potteries company. He states a deal has been made for the East Liverpool Potteries company,
capital $17,000,000, and controlling six
plants, and for seven other local potteries. A. M. Moreland, formerly of the Carnegie Steel company and Steel Trust men are reported behind the deal.

PATRICK TRIAL

IT HAS DEVELOPED PUGNACITY
AMONG LAWYERS.

Defense is Strengthened—Progress
Made at This Murder Case in New York City.

New York, March 14.—The trial of Lawyer Albert T. Patrick for the alleged murder of W. M. Rice has developed much pugnacity and irritability
among all the lawyers engaged in it.
They act and talk in court as if they were ready to fly at each others'
throats, and even during recess their combative ness leads to angry words.

Dr. Austin Flint was the day's chief witness for the defense. Concerning the one and one-half grains of mercury
found by Professor Witthaus in Rice's organs, Mr. Moore drew from Dr. Flint
the opinion that mercury can be found in the body months, perhaps a year,
after it has been administered as a remedy. Chloroform vapor, the doctor said, is only slightly irritating when breathed into the lungs. Jones' story of how he chloroformed Rice when the old man was asleep, being repeated to him. Dr. Flint said: "I should say that if the patient were in a natural sleep
he would awaken and throw off the cone."

Then Mr. Moore and Mr. Osborne became involved in an angry wrangle over
one of the doctor's answers, and Recorder Goff said: "You are acting like a pair of overgrown schoolboys, and forget the obligations of your profession. I demand that you respect the court."

Dr. Alexander G. Leuf of Philadelphia, an expert in diseases of the lungs
was then called.

Mr. Moore described the chloroforming of Rice as recounted by Jones, and asked Dr. Leuf if it could have been accomplished without waking the patient. Dr. Leuf said he thought not.
He had never been able to administer
chloroform to a sleeping patient, and said that it was his opinion that Rice died because of the bad condition of his kidneys and secondarily because of the lung conditions. He did not think death was due to chloroform poisoning.

Code Bill Instruction.

Zanesville, O., March 14.—At a mass meeting of citizens in the Common Pleas Court room last night, called for the purpose of considering managing government it was decided by motion to instruct Representative Carr
and Senator Overturn to support the Kuch-Kibler municipal code bill.

DR. TALMAGE BETTER.

New Orleans, March 14.—Dr. T. De Witt Talmage left for Washington last night. He was much better when he started.

DETAILS OF MANY MURDERS FREELY DISCUSSED.

BEAUMONT, TEX., NEGRESS BE-COMES LOQUACIOUS.

HER LIEUTENANT IS ARRESTED.

White Man is Jailed Charged With Having Aided in the Awful Slaughter.

Beaumont, Texas, March 14.—Jack
Welsh, a white iron molder, accused by Mattie Bennett of being her first lieutenant in directing the operations
of the gang of robbers and murderers,
was arrested at Houston and brought back to Beaumont yesterday. He denies complicity, but the specific charge
of murdering Benjamin Pearson is made against him in a warrant.

In jail the Bennett woman talked freely to a reporter. She confessed everything except direct murder, and
went fully into the details of the plans
followed by the gang.

"The business has been going on
for six months," said she. "The men would go out to the saloons and street
corners and find men that had money.
They'd bring them to my house and I and the other women would give them beer with knockout drops in it.
Then the men would either beat 'em
up there and rob them, or take them out into the hobo yard. I don't know how many men I've drugged; too
many to remember, and all of them
were robbed."

"I don't know what them folks that I've told the Sheriff about will do to me."

"I know I'm safe in jail now, but if I ever get out they will kill me, if any of 'em are alive and are out of the penitentiary then."

The Neches river, where the five bodies of the supposed victims of the gang were found, skirts the town of Beaumont. It is about 150 feet wide and 30 feet deep. In some places swamps run back. A body thrown into the swamps stands small chance of being found. If it is true that fifty persons have disappeared from Beaumont, this may be the solution of the mystery of the missing bodies.

The case in some of its features recalls the Bender family murders in Labette county, Kansas, thirty years ago.

Cuban Muddle.

Washington, March 14.—The "harmony" committee at work on the Cuban muddle assembled late yesterday afternoon to frame a compromise
agreement and remained in session
two hours. The meeting was not productive of final results and an ad-jourment was then taken until this afternoon.

Ohtoans Injured.

Soedalia, Mo., March 14.—A mixed
Missouri Pacific train was wrecked
near Fortuna yesterday afternoon, 24 being hurt but none fatally. Among those hurt are F. S. Ozier, Springfield, O., legs bruised; Chas. I. Miller, Cincinnati, cut on head; E. B. Cappeller, Mansfield, O., cut head.

Forty Dead.

New Orleans, March 14.—Dispatches
from the Central and outdoashrd
es from the central and northern portions of the state indicate that forty lives were lost in the tornado and storms which swept Louisiana for forty-eight hours.

NEEDS MORE MILLIONS.

New York, March 14.—A meeting
of the finance committee of the United States Steel trust will be held today
for the purpose of considering a plan
to raise $50,000,000 additional working capital, which is needed to carry on the tremendous business of the company.

RHODES IS WEAKER.

Capetown, March 14.—Cecil Rhodes
is weaker today. His condition in other respects is unchanged. Oxygen is applied and the worst is feared.

ia his wife deserves a lot of pity.

FAIR DISCUSSION
In Favor of City Ownership of Water Works Versus Quibbling for Private Ownership.

It is quite unnecessary for the American-Tribune or anyone else to question the Advocate on its position on the water works proposition. The stand the Advocate took in favor of city ownership was pronounced and unmistakable from the time the ordinance was first introduced last January.

On the 13th day of January last the Advocate said:

"OUR SPLENDID AND PROSPEROUS CITY HAVING OUTGROWN THE OLD WATER WORKS PLANT, NEEDS A LARGER AND A BETTER ONE."

The Advocate has not varied an iota from that position from the day of its utterance to the present time, and will fairly and squarely present facts and figures to convince voters until they cast their ballots on the question.

The policy of the A.-T. has been to quibble, misrepresent and confuse the issue in every way possible. The Advocate desired no newspaper controversy on the subject, but it has been compelled to constantly call the A.-T. down and expose its subterfuges and perversions even to defending the Republican councilmen against that paper's unjust criticisms.

The A.-T. has a perfect right to advocate a preference for private ownership of water works over public ownership, but it should do so openly, and present its arguments frankly. Quibbling, distortion and obstruction tactics will not deceive intelligent people.

The appointment of the non-partisan committee by the Council to investigate the subject and make a report of its findings places the question before the people on a purely economic basis. The report will deserve and receive the highest consideration by every good citizen. It is expected that the report will be made to the council next Monday evening. What its findings will be the Advocate does not presume to say; no reporter of this paper has hounded the members of the committee to find out, after the manner of the "enterprising" tactics of the A.-T. The Advocate simply has confidence in the facts and figures the committee shall present. They are all honorable, intelligent, highly qualified, gentlemen: they are devoting much time and earnest effort in their work, and the Advocate believes that the people generally, regardless of party, will place great trust and reliance in what the committee says.

If the American-Tribune had not begun and pursued its policy of misrepresentation there would have been no newspaper controversy, at least so far as the Advocate is concerned.

A movement is reported in New York politics to make Chief Justice Parker, of the court of appeals, the Democratic candidate for governor next year, with a view to his nomination for President in 1904. Judge Parker was elected to his present position by a plurality of 69,000 in 1897—the year after McKinley had carried the State by 268,000. That of itself was sufficient to call National attention to him; and the significance of the result was increased by the fact that he ran upon a simple demand for an able, upright, independent judiciary against the machine-made candidate in 1900. Two conditions on the statement made await his nomination in 1904. One is that he shall be nominated for Governor this year, and another that he shall be elected.

A poor husband is a good bit like a mongrel dog. No one ever tries to steal him.

Senator Frye is quite right in his claim that the ship subsidy bill is "a logical response to the demands and the principles of the republican party." The republican party has always held that the many should be taxed for the benefit of the few, and the ship subsidy does that. The republican party has always taken care of the wealthy men that furnish campaign funds, and the ship subsidy does that. The republican party has always brought forward its measures under a false pretense of public benefit, and that is the guise in which the ship subsidy appears. It is thoroughly republican.

President Kruger responds from Holland to congratulations on Delaney's victory of last week in a cheering telegram that will inspire the Boers and their friends. He promises more good news from Delaney, and declares that his confidence in the ultimate triumph of the Boers could not be greater than it now is, and it never has been shaken. He hopes England will see the folly of her attempt at subjugation by recognizing and restoring the independence of the South African republics.

The Rev. Joseph Parker rebukes King Edward very pointedly for some things he does not approve of, but he would attract much more general applause by rebuke of the British nation for its inhumanity in South Africa. If the Christian religion is anything it is a religion of humanity, of charity, of compassion, and no greater stain can be put upon it than the infliction of cruelty.

LITTLE RUSE

Adopted My Mr. McCreary When He Didn't Want to Speak.

(Washington Post.)

Once upon a time Senator-elect McCreary, of Kentucky, was invited to a public demonstration in his state, and accepted on condition that he should not be asked to make a speech. While he was sitting upon the platform twirling his thumbs, the Chairman of the meeting came to him in distress. The principal speaker had failed to appear, and would Governor McCreary take his place? Mr. McCreary protested that he was not prepared, but the Chairman was insistent, and finally secured McCreary's promise to speak.

"When I go out upon the platform," whispered McCreary to the leader of the band, "play as loud and as fast as you can, and don't let anybody stop you until you see me take my seat again."

Mr. McCreary stepped forward. The band began to play. The chairman tried in vain to stop the music. McCreary's lips were moving and his arms were gesticulating but the sound of his voice could not be heard. Finally he took his seat. Then, and not until then, did the perspiring musicians subside.

"Now will you speak again?" asked the Chairman of the meeting, when quiet was restored.

"No, indeed," replied McCreary, "have really said all that I can say upon this subject."

Nerve Slavery

It is present-day conditions—heaping burdens of work upon the nervous system that tells the story—premature breaking up of health.

It tells why so many men and women, who so far as age is concerned, should be in the prime of health, find themselves letting go of the strength, the power, the vitality they once possessed. It is because that great motor power of the body, nerve force, is impaired. Neither will the heart, the brain, the liver, the kidneys, the stomach act right without their proper nerve force supply. Let any organ be lacking in this essential and troubles begin—some of them are:

- Throbbing, palpitating heart.
- Stomach troubles.
- Sudden startings.
- Morning languor.
- Headaches.
- Inability to work or think.
- Exhaustion on exertion.
- Flashing appetite.
- Direction of vision.
- Food loathing.
- Easily excited, nervous, irritable.
- Loss of flesh and muscular power.
- Satiable melancholia.

BETWEEN GENTLEMEN

(Copyright, 1902, by C. B. Lewis.)

There were eight of us who left the steamer at Naples, and two of the party were Colonel Dayton and his wife. It was the talk about the steamer that they were on their bridal tour, but there were certain reasons why some of us did not believe it. It made no difference that he was at least fifteen years her senior, but she seemed altogether too melancholy for a bride. She was a woman about twenty-eight years old and as handsome a one as you would meet in a week's travel, but it was evident that she had to force every smile that appeared on her face. One night two days before we reached Naples she would have thrown herself overboard had not my berthmate been at hand to stop her, but he did not speak of the matter to any one but me. When he had related the incident, he added:

"It's nothing to us who this couple are, but I've made up my mind that it's a case of elopement. The colonel is evidently an old bachelor, while she is a wife."

They were driven away in a carriage when the steamer reached the city, and it was not for three or four days that I found by accident where they had gone. They were occupying a villa in the suburbs and seeming to shun publicity. I met the colonel two or three times in my walks, but he looked straight into my face and made no sign of recognition. About ten days had passed and I was out on the mountain side one day when I saw the colonel approaching by a path from the right. At the same moment a second man came up from the direction of town, and a moment later the three of us were standing together beside a large boulder in an old vineyard. I had my eyes on both as they drew together. They paid not the least attention to me, but bowed slightly to each other, and each changed color for an instant as they looked into each other's eyes. I somehow felt that they knew each other, and the position became embarrassing for me. I was about to pass on when the newcomer lifted his hand in protest and quietly said to the other:

"I presume the lady is here in Naples with you?"

"She is," was the reply as the colonel carelessly tapped the boulder with his cane.

"And you were rather expecting me?"

"Oh, well!" The men looked away from each other for a moment. The stranger was a much younger man, and his dress, looks and demeanor were proofs of a gentleman. It came to me that he must be the husband of the eloping woman and that he had followed in pursuit. Only the flashing of his eyes told of the volcano raging within his breast. His face was as impassive as a mask and his voice as even as if speaking to a friend at the club. He looked away over the fields for half a minute and then turned and queried:

"You will of course grant me satisfaction?"

"Certainly," replied the colonel, with a slight bow.

"Here and now?"

"Well, I am not armed, but as early as you please in the morning."

"Thanks—as soon after sunrise as you can make it convenient. In the meantime—"

"In the meantime I shall make all necessary arrangements," finished the colonel as he sauntered on.

The other looked after him for awhile and then turned to me and queried:

"Were you a fellow passenger of his on the Sovereign?"

"Yes."

"Then you probably understand. I wish to avoid public gossip as much as possible. I shall kill him here tomorrow morning. Will you be present and see that it is honorably done?"

"But the police—" I began, when he checked me with:

"Money will silence them and gloss it over. Kindly let me expect you. Here is my card."

During the first half of the evening I made up my mind to have nothing further to do with the affair, but before going to bed I decided to follow it up, and the sun had not been up above fifteen minutes when I was at the boulder. Colonel Dayton was already there, walking back and forth, and after a lengthy bow he gave me no further attention. The other came up ten minutes later, and they bowed to each other. Each had a pistol case under his arm, and as they stooped over them I stepped off ten paces. There was no choice of positions. Each loaded his own weapon, and I saw that both were gold-handled revolvers. They were not two minutes getting ready, and then my gentlemen nodded to each other and sauntered down to the rock marking the tenth pace. I did not exactly know what was required of me until both looked at me. Then I stepped aside and counted, "One—two—three—fire!" The two reports were blended in one, and as Colonel Dayton dropped his weapon and sank down the other came forward and calmly said:

"I aimed at his heart. Kindly see to all further arrangements. Here is a thousand pounds. If you need any more, you have my address. Thank you very much."

The police called it a duel and were satisfied with my deposition, and the colonel was buried in Naples. On the day of the funeral I saw the lady diving down to the wharf to take the steamer for England, and that was the end of it. London society had its gossip, but a betrayed husband also had his revenge.

WAIST TRIMMINGS.

Outline For Evening Dress—Bertha of Lace and Ribbon.

There are some noticeable novelties in waist trimmings. The bertha is now more pronounced and the flatter collar was omitted, and instead the wide collar was substituted, and from this to the gored bertha or the flat flieu was a short step. The fronts of waists pouch a great deal, and frequently so do the backs. The fashionable rosette appears less isolated than before, for it is usually attached to a folded strap or band starting at the waist, and this keeps all the fullness of the waist well in front, for the strap is pulled up sharply when the rosette is fastened into place with its safety pin.

Low waists are softened by little boleros or oddly shaped collars of lace.

PINK CHIFFON GOWN.

Inset with narrow lace ribbon or spangled ornaments. Net, yellow Valenciennes and alençon are the favorite "factors" to use on old fashioned expression.

Gimpes made to wear with low neck evening dresses are of all over lace or embroidered mousseline. They have transparent collars carefully boned.

The evening dress in the cut is made of pale pink chiffon embroidered with chenille and chiffon in delicate tints of pastel blue and gold, and it is studded with paste brilliants. It is made very plain, the waist being cut with a square décolletage and the sleeves being elbow length, with full ruffles of lace.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

SPRING MILLINERY.

The Newest Shapes Are to Be Worn Of the Face.

Fashionable hats this spring will show a variety of flower trimmings. Roses will, of course, prove the most popular, but all kinds of rich foliage mingled with bows of pale colored ribbons will be very chic. Odd flowers in a variety of strange shades and with their petals jeweled and frosted are among the novelties now being offered for sale. Flowers made out of artificial pearls and huge grapes made out of white and smoked pearls are seen on many of the imported hats.

Light facings are not so much in favor as formerly. The tendency seems to be to have the entire brim of the hat, of one shade. Sometimes lace features are applied on the crown and brim. The drooping bow has apparently come to stay.

The newest millinery shapes are designed to be worn off the face.

The hat in the illustration is made of pearl gray tulle, edged with a trim of white and yellow lace and a gray and white bird. At the back a large velvet bow droops over the crown.

J. H. CHOLLET.

The Quaint Rosette.

Rosettes will be used as trimmings for touches of color on the spring frock which has a penchant toward the picturesque. The proper number of these rosettes is worth a little study, for they appear a good deal on the skirts of new frocks in varying sizes and are used instead of buttons on boleros. To make them as buttons, ribbons should be placed up very finely and stitched on to a small center in plain flat linen. Ribbon will do round and round in three or four rows, with a stress on the quosen and set in the middle to finish it off.

HUSLETT'S STOMACH BITTERS.

Is a specific remedy for all ailments of the stomach, liver and bowels, and one that is backed by hundreds of testimonials received during the past five years. We would therefore urge every sufferer from Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Flatulency, Constipation, Sick Headache or Liver and Kidney Troubles to give it a trial. It will surely cure you. The genuine must have our private stamp over the neck of the bottle.

Inventor Smith Here.

Mr. Peter Smith of Detroit, Mich., the inventor of the celebrated Smith Car Heater, is in the city. He has a number of men from his large factory in Detroit here engaged in putting in his heaters on a number of cars being turned out by the Jewett Car Works. The heaters are placed in the vestibule of the cars, with pipes running around on the inside of the cars, similar to those used on regular passenger coaches. The heat is obtained from hard coal, and the average cost per car is but fifteen cents a day. The heater is considered one of the best in use. By the way Mr. Smith is an old fireman, having belonged to the fire department of Detroit for a period of thirty-four years, the greater part of that time being an engineer. He has retired from the service, but takes great interest in anything pertaining to the department. While here he has on several occasions visited the Central Fire Department headquarters, and thinks the department is one of the most efficient he has ever seen.

IN SWEEPING COSTUME

(Original.)

Miss Edith Abbott, being of a practical turn of mind and her mother having but one servant, volunteered to "do" the parlor once a week. One Saturday morning, broom in hand, dress pinned back, sleeves rolled above the elbows, a towel over her head to keep the dust from her hair, she heard a ring at the doorbell. Before she could escape she heard the maid open the door and the familiar voice of Mr. Alexander Hathaway, a newly appointed officer in the United States army, asking for her father. Fearing that the maid might be stupid enough to show him into the parlor, and not caring to be caught in sweeping costume, she stepped between a portiere and folding doors, intending to open the doors and leave by the dining room. The doors were off the slide, and she could not open them. Meanwhile Mr. Hathaway entered the parlor and took a seat.

"Wonder what he wants with papa?" queried Miss Abbott, crying him through an opening in the portiere. Mr. Abbott, a dignified gentleman, came in, eyed the comer curiously, bade him good morning and waited for him to tell what he had come for.

"My regiment is ordered to Manila," began the young man haltingly.

"Indeed!" said Mr. Abbott. "What interest could this have for him?"

"Of course that takes me, you know."

Mr. Abbott did not know and did not care. He repeated the word "Indeed!" which is valuable from not meaning anything.

"The men are on the train now. It is to start at 12 noon. I secured leave to come here and speak with you a moment." The lieutenant looked at his watch. "It is half past 11. I have fifteen minutes here and fifteen minutes to make the train. What I came for is to ask you if you have any objection to my asking Edith to be my wife. I would like her to join me at San Francisco, be married there and go out to Manila."

Edith's heart jumped into her throat. Alex Hathaway, rich, handsome, in every way attractive! She had never dreamed that he would ask for such a commonplace person as she regarded herself.

Mr. Abbott took out his own watch. "You haven't a surplus of time," he said, "so I will come to the point at once. I will gladly welcome you for a son-in-law if my daughter is herself willing. Have you asked her?"

"No. I thought that if you should object it would be better not to speak to her now."

"I'll call her. Edith! Edith! Where are you? You're wanted at once!"

Now, if there is anything a woman is punctilious about it is the acceptance of a proposal or the ceremony of marriage. To Edith Abbott the idea of being wooed and won in sweeping costume was abhorrent. Besides, she dreaded lest the aristocratic young officer, seeing her in such a dress, should repent his choice. She stood stock still.

"Nancy," shouted Mr. Abbott, "find Miss Edith immediately. She must be somewhere in the house."

"Yes, sir."

Mr. Abbott sat down and waited. Mr. Hathaway paced the floor impatiently. Edith looked at them both from behind the portiere and wished that some kind fairy would suddenly transform her costume to a more becoming one. Presently the maid came in and reported that Miss Edith was not up stairs and must have gone out. Edith herself, looking at her lover, made up her mind that he was not too gentlemanlike occasionally to say bad words. Both men looked at their watches.

"Well," said the suitor, disappointed. "I fear for the present the matter must be given up. After I reach Manila I will, with your permission, write to her. Perhaps it is better, after all, for me to investigate the climate and accommodations. Meanwhile I think you will agree with me that for you to tell her of this visit would place her in an unpleasant position. Better wait till she gets it from me by letter."

Miss Abbott was by no means disposed to give the young man so good an opportunity to change his mind. Nevertheless it was not till the two men were shaking hands prior to separating that she threw aside the portieres and stood, red as a peony, before them. Hathaway caught her in his arms.

"Sweetheart, you have heard all?" Edith was mute.

"Two minutes!" said Mr. Abbott, watch in hand.

"Will you?" pleaded the lieutenant.

"Never. In this horrid togger."

"There is no greater test of beauty than the costume you wear. You are prettier in it than I ever saw you."

"Do you really mean it?"

"Certainly. I swear it!"

"I don't believe you."

"Your answer?"

"Thirty seconds!" called the father.

"Answer to what—going to Manila or—"

"Both."

"Which first?"

"Ten seconds!" from the timekeeper.

"Do you love me?"

No reply.

"Five seconds!"

"Do you love me?" repeated the officer.

"Time's up!" with a snap of the lid. "Yes."

Lieutenant Hathaway snatched a kiss and hurried away. Having forced a woman to accept his proposal in sweeping costume, he felt that he had nothing to fear from the Philippines. F. A. MITCHELL.

RUNAWAY

IN WHICH NEWARK FIGURES TO SLIGHT EXTENT.

Frazeysburg Couple Married at Zanesville—Bride's Parents Objected. Groom Only Nineteen.

Quite a romantic marriage was solemnized at the Trinity M. E. parsonage in Zanesville Wednesday afternoon, says the Zanesville Signal which tells the story as follows:

The contracting parties were Miss Dora Pryor, aged 18, and Mr. James P. Whyde, aged 19 years, both residents of Frazeysburg.

Owing to the youth of the bride, her parents were opposed to the marriage and it became necessary for the young couple to circumvent parental objection.

The young folks were school mates and during their scholastic life formed an attachment for each other which as the years went by, ripened into love.

The groom left Frazeysburg a number of years ago to seek his fortune in other parts of the country and for some time has held a responsible position with an eastern contracting company. A correspondence was kept up during the meantime between himself and Miss Pryor and a few weeks ago young Whyde returned to Frazeysburg from Baltimore, Md., where he has been employed.

A few days previous to this, however, his bride to be had left her home for a visit at Newark, and it seemed the lovers were to be denied each other's company during the groom's visit. But this did not daunt the ardent lover and frequent trips to Newark were made by him.

It was finally agreed to plight their troth and on one of the young man's trips to the Licking county capital all arrangements were perfected. The young couple came to this city Wednesday morning and repaired to the house of a friend of the groom's family.

The next move was to secure the consent of the groom's father, as the young man was yet under age. Mr. Whyde was accordingly telegraphed for and arrived at noon from Frazeysburg with the young man's trunk.

With the father's consent it was an easy matter to secure the marriage license and the young lovers were made man and wife by Rev. T. W. Creighton at the Trinity M. E. parsonage.

The bride being 18 years old, the consent of her parents was not necessary.

The young couple left on B. & O. No. 8 Wednesday evening for their future home in Baltimore. Before their departure a letter was written to the bride's parents asking their forgiveness and blessing which will no doubt be forthcoming to make the matrimonial path of the youthful couple one of the smoothest kind.

Mr. and Mrs. Whyde were the most youthful appearing married couple seen in this city for some time. Both are small of stature and each could pass for a younger age. Mrs. Whyde is quite good looking.

Over Nineteen Years of Age and Had Raised 32 Lambs Including 14 Sets of Twins.

Mr. George Ryan who lives on J. A. Chilcote's farm in Perry township, lost a pet sheep by death this week, which was a remarkable animal in many respects.

The sheep was of the Merino breed which lives to an average age of from 8 to 10 years, seldom older. Mr. Ryan's sheep had passed its nineteenth birthday anniversary.

During the 19 years she had given birth to and raised 32 lambs, including 14 sets of twin lambs. The Merino generally gives birth to but one during a season.

This remarkably prolific animal gave birth in one season to two pairs of twin lambs.

Gain Flesh.

We guarantee Vinol will increase weight and renew strength—no more need of disagreeable Cod-Liver Oil—Vinol, its successor, creates flesh quicker, and is deliciously palatable.

Mr. W. I. Morrison Gains Flesh by Taking Vinol.

"I was down sick with Pneumonia of the Lungs, very weak, was persuaded to try Vinol. Have taken one bottle and a half, gained 25 pounds and feel quite well."—Mr. W. I. MORRISON, Shelby, Ohio.

How Vinol Cured Rheumatism and Made Flesh.

Mr. JOHN C. SHUMACK, Clerk of the United States Express Co., 177 W. Jackson Street, says: "For several months I was unable to sleep. I was nervous and irritable and all run down in flesh. At times I suffered severely from Rheumatism. I concluded to try Vinol and I am glad I did, for I improved from the start, and after using three bottles my appetite returned and what I ate did me good. I sleep well and have gained and am still gaining in flesh. I have not had a single attack of Rheumatism since I began taking Vinol."

People used to think it was necessary to take Cod-Liver Oil to rebuild weight and strength. It is easy for us to prove that such a treatment is not now necessary. Fat taken into the system does not create fat. We know that Vinol will create flesh quicker than any preparation containing grease.

With many such testimonials as the above coming before us, it is not strange that we endorse Vinol as strongly as we do. We unhesitatingly agree to return to any one who has taken Vinol and is not satisfied that it has accomplished all that we claim for it, every cent that they have paid us for it.

HULL SUES

FOR DIVORCE ON ACCOUNT OF "PRETTY EAGLE" CASE.

Mansfield Man Says His Wife Ran Off With the Indian and Came to Newark.

The sensational divorce suit of S. L. Hull vs. Mary C. Hull comes as the result of Mrs. Hull's alleged relations with "Pretty Eagle," the half-breed Indian doctor, regarding which accounts have been given previously in the Advocate.

The action is brought at Mansfield by S. L. Hull, his attorneys being Bricker & Workman. The plaintiff says he was married March 4, 1898, to defendant. No children have been born of the marriage. The petition alleges that on or about March 4, 1902, at a hotel in Newark, Ohio, Mrs. Hull committed adultery with "Pretty Eagle," a half breed Indian and at divers times before and since March 4, 1902, at other places she has committed adultery with "Pretty Eagle." Plaintiff says that defendant owns one-third interest in the north half of lot 159 in what is known as the Dailey outlots in Mansfield and that she threatens to sell, dispose or encumber the property so as to prevent him from obtaining alimony.

He asks for divorce from her, reasonable alimony out of the defendant's property and that she be restrained from selling, disposing or encumbering her real estate.

Judge Brinkerhoff granted the injunction asked for.

Mrs. Mary C. Hull filed a petition in probate court against Samuel L. Hull, September 17, 1900, for divorce alimony and injunction, but the case was dismissed October 18, 1900.

Prompt Attention to the Symptoms of Disease and the Little Ills of Life Will Save You Weeks and Months of Suffering.

Paine's Celery Compound

Will Quickly Banish Your Troubles and Restore Perfect Health.

Prompt care and attention to the little ill of life will often save weeks and months of suffering. If the common symptoms of rheumatism, neuralgia, dyspepsia, kidney troubles, and persistent headaches are attended to when first experienced, by use of one or two bottles of Paine's Celery Compound, these beginnings of serious troubles are forever banished. If you are out of sorts, have tired feelings, disturbed sleep, defective digestion, or poisoned blood, Paine's Celery Compound will give to all the functions of the body a fresh supply of nerve food, establishing strength, and permanent vigor. Its use encourages an abundant supply of pure, fresh blood, without which there can be no health, happiness, or real life. Paine's Celery Compound is a matchless remedy in cases of enfeebled nerves and foul blood. The use of one bottle is sufficient to prove its value. Beware of worthless imitations sold by some dealers. See that the name PAINE'S is on each wrapper and bottle.

LACE TRIMMINGS.

Collars, Berthas, Stoles, Are Used on Cloth Costumes.

Collars, berthas, stoles and postillon backs are characteristic of the dressy cloth costume. Irish crochet and cluny are the stylish laces. Lery is the favorite color in lace, and even deep brown shades are now considered very stylish. Black lace and insertion are seen

now and then, but not so often as earlier in the season. Embroidery of all kinds, passementerie and various braids are all used for trimming. The inevitable black velvet ribbon still appears, and narrow velvet ribbons in the bright tints are seen now and then.

Single figures of lace are used with great skill on many of the thin dresses and sometimes even figures of different shades of lace are used together. In general everything in the way of trimming is used to make a gown more dainty. Formal trimmings are relegated to the past.

The attractive dancing frock in the picture is made of cream mousseline de soie over white satin. The waist is made full, with a shirred yoke outlined with jeweled black velvet ribbon. The wide belt is composed of the shirtings and of narrow velvet ribbons. The sleeves are formed by a picturesque draping of tulle caught at the elbow into a rosette. The upper half of the skirt is laid in box plaits, and there are three wide ruffles, headed by a V pointed application of shirtings and black velvet. A handsome spray of orchids and maidenhair fern completes this costume.

SEPARATE WAISTS.

Useful Black and White Chiffon Dinner Blouses.

Very pretty and useful waists are being made out of black chiffon and mousseline de soie, joined together with a few odds and ends of lace. These blouses are very useful for the later and informal occasions. Tucked black chiffon over lustrous satin is very smart and combines well with in sections of black lace. Shirtings of rather soft mousseline de soie make a youthful looking bodice, while a broad bertha of black chintilly appliqued with irregular black velvet dots is a handsome trimming for a decolette waist.

Pretty semidecolette blouses are made of all over black lace, with a bodice also of the same lace through with tiny black velvet ribbons.

Waists of white chiffon and all over lace are as popular as those made of black, and the woman who wishes to dress well on a small income should not neglect to use up her old bits of lace in this way. The white waists are handsomer when worn with a pale colored skirt.

A useful black mousseline waist is the subject of the sketch. It is made decolette for evening wear, with elbow sleeves which fall off at the shoulders. The decolette is outlined by a delicate application of black chintilly, which also appears on one side of the opening down the front. The rest of the blouse is tucked vertically and is finished off with a crusted lace belt and an irregular satin bow at the waist.

The sleeves are also tucked and have a line of the applique running through their centers.

FATHER OF 28

MUCH INTEREST

SULZBACH HAS A PRETTY FAIR SIZED FAMILY.

is Felt in the Success of the New Gas and Oil Company—Well Nearing Completion.

He Claims That None of the Boys Will Support Him—Judge Expresses Surprise.

Philadelphia, March 14.—Frederick Sulzbach, Sr., of No. 2118 North 42nd street, appeared before Magistrate Harrison. He charged his two sons, Frank C. aged 18 and Lewis, 16 years old, with non-support. Both left the parental roof some time ago. The former lives at No. 1327 Porter street, and the latter at No. 1617 Germantown avenue. The plaintiff and defendants were probably the most robust looking individuals that ever confronted a Magistrate.

Magistrate Harrison learned that the father was 52 years old, and that he had been four times married. By his first wife he had five children, by his second nineteen, by his third three and by his fourth one.

To all this Magistrate Harrison listened. It was an uncommon case. The oldest living child is 29 years of age and the youngest an infant of 1 year. "You don't mean all that," remarked the astonished Magistrate, leaning over the judicial desk and referring particularly to the host of children.

"That's what I am swearing to," of their rights and in a courteous and firmly replied Sulzbach, Sr. "I never will be the truth."

"But 28 children? I have never heard anything like it," remarked the Magistrate.

"No, and probably you never will hear of it," said Sulzbach, Sr. "I want to support myself, and that's why I'm here."

The Magistrate said nothing to this when the sons had their say. They made no denial to what their father had said, but they affirmed that he is a man of property and perfectly able to support himself, and rather than have him molest them of their peace of mind they would face a jury.

Then Magistrate Harrison held the two young men in nonal 1-1 for their appearance at Court.

A good deal of interest is felt on the part of the people of Newark as to the result of the gas well now nearing completion in the Rocky Fork territory in the northeastern part of the county, this being the well put down by the Long Run Oil and Gas Company, which is composed of a number of prominent Newark citizens, and is financially a very strong company. The reason for the great public interest in the result of this well is due to the fact that the company has 7900 acres of very promising territory under lease, and in the event of the well being a success, about which there is no doubt on the part of well informed people on that question, it is the purpose of the company to secure a franchise for supplying gas to the residents of Newark at a meter and flat rates that will be much more favorable to consumers of gas than the rates they have been paying.

The gentlemen who are connected with this company hope, in the event of their furnishing gas to the people of Newark to manage the company in such a way and provide as its servants and employees, persons who will treat their customers with due recognition and courtesy.

In case this well meets with the expectation of the company and a franchise on proper terms is granted by the city, the work of developing the field and laying mains to Newark will be pushed with all possible vigor.

NEWARK GIRL'S SUICIDE.

Miss Vina Woodbury Hangs Herself on Penney Avenue.

Teacher in Sunday School Kills Herself, But Cause is Not Known—Had Been Ill—Body is Discovered by Benj. Montgomery Friday Noon.

Miss Vina Woodbury, aged 21 years, a highly estimable young woman, committed suicide shortly before noon today by hanging herself at the home of Mr. Wesley Montgomery of the firm of Pratt & Montgomery, planing mill men of the East End.

When Mr. Benjamin Montgomery, a son of Mr. Wesley Montgomery, who lives at 56 Penney avenue, came home to dinner about 11:30 o'clock he found the house locked and no one at home.

Having a night key he admitted himself to the house and going through the rooms found dinner partly prepared, but no trace of Miss Woodbury.

He then went out and made inquiries among the neighbors. Mrs. Blaisdell, who resides next door told him to look in the cellar for her. Mr. Montgomery in company with his sister, Miss Florence Montgomery, then went down into the cellar, where they were horrified to find Miss Woodbury hanging to a rafter.

She had obtained a piece of half-inch rope, some seven or eight feet in length and after making a noose in one end of it placed it over her head and then mounting a chair tied the other end of the rope over a rafter, after which she had kicked the chair

from under her.

Mr. Montgomery then ran up stairs and sounded the alarm and telephoned for Dr. D. M. Smith and an undertaker. He then returned to the cellar and cut down the remains of the unfortunate woman. By this time Dr. Smith and Undertaker Fleming had arrived and the remains were carried up stairs where they were viewed by Coroner Scott J. Evans.

Dr. Smith was of the opinion that the woman had been dead about one hour when she was first found.

No reason can be assigned for the rash deed, other than that Miss Woodbury had been suffering with a severe attack of quinsy for the past three weeks.

Miss Woodbury, when only seven years old was taken from the Children's Home by Mr. Montgomery, and had made her home with him ever since always being treated as one of the family. She was a faithful member of the Second M. E. church and was a teacher in the Sunday school. Her mother had been dead for nearly fifteen years, but her father, Mr. C. B. Woodbury, of near Appleton, and two brothers, survive her.

At this writing no arrangements have been made for the funeral.

HELD UP AND ROBBED

Josephus Gatton Civil War Veteran Tells of a Thrilling Experience With Two Desperate Characters In Newark on Thursday Afternoon—They Got $75.

About as bold and daring a hold-up as ever happened anywhere, yet one that was done so quietly that those in sight of the crime never for one moment thought it was being committed, was that which occurred on the Wilson street bridge over the Racoon creek, at about 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

The victim was Mr. Joseph Gatton, an old veteran and pensioner, who lives at 253 Williams street. Mr. Gatton served in the civil war as a member of the 91st O. V. I., and receives a pension of $25 per month.

Thursday he received his pension check and had it cashed at the First National bank, receiving twenty dollar, three ten dollar and one five dollar bills, the $75 being his pension for three months.

He told the Advocate the following about the hold-up. "After I got the money I started home, going down Wilson street. At the bridge I met two men standing there. One was a small man with a smooth face and very red curly hair; he wore no overcoat and wore a cap. The other was a large man, weighing about 200, had a black mustache, black overcoat and wore a soft black hat."

"I am very deaf and use an ear trumpet, as you see. When I got to the men one of them spoke to me. I had to get out my ear trumpet, and he took hold of one end of it with his left hand, and asked me if I knew where they could strike a job. I told them I did not. He then pushed a revolver to my side and hissed through the trumpet 'We don't want to hurt you, and we won't if you come peaceably with us, but if you don't we will kill you.'

"They then took me down over the Straitsville railroad bridge and into the bushes, where they took my money, knife and overcoat. They remained there guarding me from that time until after dark, when they took me across Ferry's field to Murphy's crossing. Here they said: 'Now you get home as quickly as possible, and don't attempt to follow us or we will kill you.' I made my way home and they started toward town."

"When I got my money and came out of the bank, I saw the same two men across the street, at the bicycle rack in front of the People's Bank, and they must have followed me to Wilson street, or rather got there ahead of me. I would know, both men if I saw them again."

Mr. Gatton is a man who inspires confidence that every word of his story is true, and on this theory, Marshal Vogelmeier and his men are working, but they have yet no definite clue to the bold highwaymen.

The loss is quite a severe one to Mr. Gatton, who depends almost entirely upon his pension for the support of himself and family. He is a man who never drinks a drop of liquor, and has the confidence and respect of his neighbors and all who know him.

SMITH BOY FOUND

His Father Wires the Advocate from Connellsville, Penn., that He Is Trying To Have All Arranged Satisfactory—Newark Kidnaping Case.

Clyde Smith, the six year old son of James M. Smith, of Connellsville, Pa., who was kidnaped from his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Smith, with whom he was living, on Tuesday morning, last, being taken from the South Third street school building, has been located through the efforts of the Advocate, and the grandparents notified by a reporter of this paper.

A complete account of the kidnaping was printed exclusively in Wednesday evening's Advocate, and created great interest throughout the city, and intense excitement in the neighborhood where the little fellow lived, and was well known and loved by all.

The Advocate sent a message to the boy's father, Thursday, and at 4:30 o'clock, after the paper for that evening was printed, received the following telegram:

"Connellsville, Pa., March 13. "Evening Advocate, Newark, Ohio: "Telegram received. Understand boy is near here, but have not yet received him. JAMES M. SMITH."

This morning the news of the finding of the lad was conveyed in the following telegram:

"Connellsville, Pa., March 14. "Evening Advocate, Newark, Ohio: "Boy is here. Will try to have everything arranged satisfactory to all. Appreciate your interest. "JAMES M. SMITH."

RAILROAD NEWS

Four Pat Hands of Fours for One Pot.

There was a quiet little sitting in one of the hotels the other evening, when a jack pot was declared. The player next to the dealer opened, the next man raised, as did the third and fourth players. When it came round to the opener he "saw" all the others and raised to the limit. He was imitated by the other three. Again he boosted, only to be boosted in turn by the other players. The other two men had abandoned their hands and looked on with absorbing interest as the stacks of disks in the center of the table took prodigious shape.

Finally the opener only saw the other three raises and his decision was followed by the players beyond him. The dealer gathered up the remainder of the pack and the quartet began calling for cards. Each of them took one. Then there followed a moment of silence, as the players thoughtfully attempted to size up the various hands and weigh the value of their own as against what might be out. The first player bet one white chip. It was called by No. 2, raised by No. 3 and No. 4 made it two blue chips for No. 1 to see his hand. The two first players called and the contest was eventually between Nos. 3 and 4, and here it was continued for some time until No. 3 deemed it advisable to stop.

On calling the last bet he was shown for kings as against four tens, while No. 1 had abandoned four trays and No. 2 four sevens. It is believed that this is the first time, on a square deal, that four sets of fours have been held pat on a single deal.—Boston Herald.

Two Railroad Bills

Two bills emanating from the organized railroad men of Ohio have been introduced into the legislature of this state. One is directed against the double cabs now in use to a large extent. The bill prohibits the separation of the engineer and fireman on the broad ground that someone should be ready at all times to control the engine. The other bill prohibits the use of pushing engines on trains unless the front engine is disabled. The absence of communication between engine drivers where an engine is placed behind is said to be the frequent cause of accident and consequent loss of life.

Washington, March 14.—The House today passed a resolution directing the Secretary of War to furnish tents for the use of ex-Confederate soldiers at their reunion in Dallas, Texas, this spring.

Badly Burned.

Bert Bradley of Central avenue, a molder at Moser & Wehrle's foundry, was seriously burned about the face Thursday evening. The men had been "pouring off" and the iron left in each ladle after pouring the molds, was emptied into a receptacle. One of the men had hung a sprinkling can which had been used in "wetting down" the sand, and the water left in it had leaked into the receptacle for the iron.

When Mr. Bradley had poured his last mold, he emptied his ladle, the molten iron going in on the water, which caused an explosion. The iron was thrown into Mr. Bradley's face, and the eyes were badly burned, besides other parts of his face.

Dr. Palmer attended him and hopes he can save the eyes.

Killed Her Husband.

New York, March 14.—Mrs. Alice Stover, aged 44 years, this morning shot and killed her husband, John, 47 years old, in their home at 61 East 106th street. Two shots were fired one lodging in the back of the man's head and the second in the back. Mrs. Stover has been arrested.

Stover was shot by his wife as he lay in bed. "I did it," said Mrs. Stover, when placed in custody. "He was not faithful to me. I am not sorry."

The couple came here from Philadelphia. Stover was a carriage painter and earned good wages.

WHAT DOES HE MEAN?

INTENSE SUFFERING

From Dyspepsia and Stomach Trouble Instantly Relieved and Permanently Cured by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

A New Discovery, but Not a Patent Medicine.

Dr. Redwell relates an interesting account of what he considers a remarkable case of acute stomach trouble and chronic dyspepsia by the use of the new discovery, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

He says: "The patient was a man who had suffered, to my knowledge, for years with dyspepsia. Everything he ate seemed to sour and create gases in the stomach. He had pains like rheumatism in the back, shoulder blades and limbs, fullness and distress after eating, poor appetite and loss of flesh; the heart became affected, causing palpitation and sleeplessness at night.

"I gave him powerful nerve tonics and blood remedies, but to no purpose. As an experiment I finally bought a 50 cent package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at a drug store and gave them to him. Almost immediate relief was given, and after he had used four boxes he was to all appearances fully cured."

"There was no more acidity or sour watery risings, no bloating after meals the appetite was vigorous and he has gained between 10 and 12 pounds in weight of solid, healthy flesh."

"Although Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are advertised and sold in drug stores, yet I consider them a most valuable addition to any physician's line of remedies, as they are perfectly harmless and can be given to children or invalids or in any condition of the stomach with perfect safety, being harmless and containing nothing but fruit and vegetable essences, pure pepsin and Golden Seal."

"Without any question they are the safest, most effective cure for indigestion, biliousness, constipation and all derangements of the stomach, however slight or severe."
